Why Clients Choose Sargent & Lundy

We know how energy systems work because we design them and provide complete operations, maintenance, and plant engineering services for them. Our comprehensive experience with power, industrial, oil & gas, and energy systems design provides for a thorough understanding of the systems evaluated within process hazard and risk analyses.

We offer clients:

• Proven service with verifiable quality
• A long history of meeting and exceeding client’s needs and expectations
• Unmatched technical depth using a multidisciplinary engineering approach with full access to technical specialists (e.g., mechanical, electrical, I&C, process)
• Immediate response to client requests and issues
• Assistance with resolving recommendations
